University of Twente
The Netherlands

Nɛt LABS

2025 Edition

the Internet

the Internet

In light of a recent motion of the Dutch parliament, keeping with the trend of internet centralisation and considering the general state of the world, we are bringing the full DNS chain to you. (Re-)introducing The Phone Book of the Internet, or The Internet, for short.

Whenever something doesn't work, it's generally the DNS. Modern organisations need a contingency plan for when that happens. We obtained a list of A-records of domain names you probably want to use, resolved them for you, and compiled them into this convenient booklet that can be used fully locally, even without power. Think of it as a bound version of Unbound.

More than 100,000 entries!

"Hands down best use of OpenINTEL I have ever seen!"
-Roland van Rijswijk-Deij